POSTOFFICE BURGLARIZED

DR. H. S. CURTIS TO SPEAK AT MONESSEN

Safe Crackers Operate At Bentleyville—Stamp Loss is Heavy

PRESENTIMENT IS TRUE

Her presentiment of a robbery to occur at the Bentleyville postoffice was proven true this morning by Miss Amanda Young, postmistress, when she opened the doors at 7 o'clock and found the place had been entered and burglarized during the night. Screaming she ran into the street. M. Gilmore answered her summons and then it was ascertained that practically everything of value, including about $3,000 worth of stamps, had been stolen. Not a stamp was left. The burglary was the second attempt at the Bentleyville post-office the first attempt about a year ago having been frustrated.

Entrance was made through the front door, the lock of which it seems had been picked. Once in the burglars moved about their work with systematic attention to details.

One of the first things they did, according to the evidences which showed this morning, was to blow off the door of the safe standing in a convenient position in the room. What explosive was used is not known, but the noise was well blanketed so that no one in the vicinity was awakened.

Everything of value in the safe was extracted, and all the drawers and boxes where it was thought anything of value would be located were opened and rifled. This morning papers and mail matter were scattered in every direction over the floor.

There was little cash to be had, but the burglars took what there was. Miss Young had banked practically all the money before the bank closed in the afternoon. The biggest loss was in the stamps, and it will take the attention of the postoffice inspector and careful accounting to determine the exact loss in this respect. Inspector George B. Craighead of Pittsburgh, has been notified, and it is expected that he will take up the work of investigation.

As soon as the news of the robbery became known Sergeant McLaughlin of the Monessee detachment of state police was telephoned, and he with his two privates went to Bentleyville to begin search for the robbers. In making their exit the burglars had taken as much care as they had in their systematic search for valuables. They locked the door carefully when they went out.

Miss Young the postmistress says that for several days she has had a presentiment that there was to be a robbery at the postoffice and that every morning she has opened the door half expecting to find the floor littered with papers. For this reason she took particular care in locking up each evening.

About a year ago, an attempt was made to burglarize the postoffice that was nearly successful. Entrance was practically made when the would-be thieves were frightened away, they traveling in an automobile. This morning it was stated there were tracks in the snow about the building, but these were quickly obliterated by the feet of the numerous curiosity seekers who visited the scene.

DIVORCED ONCE; READY TO WED

Couple at Washington Find
Singled Blessedness Not So Blessed

Dissatisfied with single life, contrary to the trend of testimony recently given in their divorce suit, William J. Burnett and wife Lenora Burnett appeared in the clerk of courts office at Washington Wednesday, paid off costs of divorce incurred during their domestic troubles and securing a marriage license, left with the crowed intention of getting the knot tied all over again. Presumably it was tied good and tight.

Mrs. Burnett brought suit against her husband and secured the divorce. In her libel in divorce and testimony she charged him with all manner of abuse due to his imbibing too freely.

At one time it was stated he threatened to cut out her heart and another time drove her from the home. The couple have five children and at the time they were divorced had been married 18 years. One of the children is with relatives at Masontown, three are in the Children's home and the mother had one, a babe in arms, with her.

The couple were about the corridors of the court house the greater part of the morning. The husband appeared very devoted to the babe, caring for it most of the time. He and his divorced wife were engaged in a rather spirited discussion, and from parts of the conversation that were overheard they were discussing the proposed remarriage. The tone of the conversation at times did not forecast very well for a remarriage. The wife stated that the husband had been converted, had joined the mission, and she believed he would do better. Both seemed very anxious to have the knot retied.

They consulted Judge McIlvaine and he advised them to get married again if they thought the way was paved for a happy married life. They struck a snag, though, when it came to getting a copy of the divorce decree. There was about $6 to be paid, to get such a decree and in addition to that the marriage license would cost another dollar. They were anxious everything be closed up Wednesday as they stated this was the only day the man could get off. They came back in the afternoon, having secured the

THOMPSON INTERESTED BUY FROM I. W. SEMANS

Again Greene county residents are aroused over the prospects of a deal closed in Uniontown Wednesday evening a tract of 1,128 acres of valuable coal in Amwell township, this county passes from the owner of I. W. Semans of Uniontown, to be carried out, the road will pass to the Bessemer Coke company of through the central part from east Pittsburg. The consideration in the transaction which is said to be about one million dollars includes what is known as the Besco works of the eastern part of West Finley township, Bessemer Coke company at Besco, or Washington county, at Burdette, or Ten Mile creek, a mile west of Mill Ackleys. It is stated that J. V. Thompson, the coal man of Uniontown, who has large holdings of coal along the line of the proposed route, is willing to assist materially, as a road through this section would be the means of opening up his fuel for market.

Mr. Thompson spent several days in Waynesburg recently, it is reported, in explaining to representatives of the B. & O. company the advantages of construction a road through the county, and it is said that the company representatives were favorably impressed with the scheme. While it is probable that efforts will be made to thwart the movement, all opposers will find the scheme of preventing operators in this line a much more difficult undertaking inasmuch as national legislation regarding interstate commerce will materially check opposition.

That the road will be constructed appears to be a settled thing as viewed by many persons in Greene county who claim to have a certain knowledge of the schemes of the persons taking the initiative in the matter. It is prophesied that it will not be more than two or three months until the work of securing rights of way will be commenced and actual work will have been started.

TIME LIMITS FOR NATIONAL BANKS IS SIXTY DAYS

All national banks must signify their acceptance of the federal reserve act within 60 days after its passage, according to an announcement made by the organization committee in the treasury department. The announcement came as the result of a widespread impression that only those banks located in federal reserve cities need signify their acceptance. Trust companies and state banks may signify their acceptance, but it is not necessary that this be done within 60 days, the committee stated.

Thus far 4,620 banks have sent in their acceptance. Pennsylvania leads with 432 banks. Illinois is second with 331 and New York third with 269.

necessary money for the costs and for a marriage license. They left the court house both apparently happy on account of their reconciliation.

A suit has been filed in Greene county by T. J. Underwood, of California, county controller of Washington county against the Pennsylvania & Southern railroad to recover for damages gone to some property in Rices Landing. This suit grows out of the extension of the Pennsylvania railroad to Crucible. The plaintiff owns a house and lot in Rices Landing which the railroad company desired to appropriate and did appropriate, in order to construct their extension.

They were unable to agree as to damages and in the latter part of 1912 viewers were appointed and hearings held. The viewers awarded Mr. Underwood $1,760. He was unwilling to accept and had an appeal to court taken and the matter will now be heard.

FRAT RECEPTION IS BIG FUNCTION

Alpha Phi Beta Dance Largely Attended and a Most Successful Event

Surpassing in brilliancy and point of detail all previous functions of the kind, the Alpha Phi Beta fraternity midwinter reception given Wednesday evening was the occasion for the assembling of a merry crowd of young folk from many points of Western Pennsylvania at Micht's Auditorium. The affair was formal, but the spirit of formality was lost in the general enjoyment. About eighty couples attended.

Handsome decorations converted the auditorium into a place of beauty. The orchestra was screened from view by lattice work formed from stripes of intertwined white crepe paper. Windows also had the effect of curtained lattice work constituted after the plant on an increased scale. New ovens are to be built and new houses erected and the whole plant materially enlarged.

The enlarged plant will be known as the Ten Mile Coke company.

The plans of the Bessemer company relative to its Amwell property has not been given out.

SUPPLEMENTARY PETITIONS TO BE IN SHORTLY

Next Monday is the last day on which to file supplementary petitions for and against the granting of liquor licenses. The court rules say that all such petitions must be in before 5 o'clock of the last Monday of January of each year. The last Monday this year falls on January 26 as February comes in on Sunday. License court will be convened on Monday morning, February 2, before Judge J. A. McIlvaine. The same day the grand jury will be convened before Judge Robert W. Irwin.

The anti-liquor forces are busy getting in shape for the filing of remonstrances on charges on next Monday. Attorneys Harry F. Moore and John C. Judson will represent the Anti-Saloon League and Jerome Plummer 162-41 fund this year. The fight will be principally against the granting of any new licenses.

STUART FOR GOVERNOR

Speaking of the boom for the Governor Stuart is having as a candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor, the Philadelphia Bulletin says:

"If the Republican party is to get to the next campaign with a chance regaining the state there is no candidate, present or prospective, for gubernatorial nomination who would be more likely to hurl its present vote and to win back a large portion of the lost vote of 1912 than ex-Governor Stuart would be. Whether

Gov. Penrose still favors his nomination or not, and entirely irrespect of the Senate's view, it is apparent that the opposition to sum up Stuart again to head the State ticket is commanding itself to both politicians and the public as one of the very strongest Republican moves Pennsylvania for the great battle 1914."

Another thing that is being impressed upon Republicans who have stayed with the party in the state, is that it must be clear and specific in its declaration of principles, and show the people that it intends to carry them out. The people are going to decide, and if the Republican party does stand for popular rule as it professed its days of usefulness as a political organization are over.

CHECKED UP IN PASSING

"I had an experience this summer which convinces me more than ever that the state system of granting appropriations to private hospitals is definitely wrong," said a Monessen man the other evening. "A member of my family was an inmate of a hospital for a time, and I employed a private nurse, paying in addition to her regular salary of $25 a week the sum of $1 a day for her board in the hospital. One evening she was late in going to supper, and when she returned she put up a big bill" about the fare.

It appears that the entire menu is biscuit and honey and raw apples. The supply of biscuit was limited, so when my nurse appeared they were all gone, and all she had to eat was raw apples. It was not so bad in her case, as she hustled out to a restaurant and got a square meal. There were a number of nurses in training, by whom the hospital work is done, who were also bound and could not leave to get anything to eat outside, even if they had means to do so, as the most of them were not.

This is a hospital that got one of the largest appropriations from the state, yet they do not give their nurses enough to eat, if this was a regular sample. At the same time they charge patients a good stiff price for board for nurses, enough to give them wholesome food at least."

POLITICAL RULES BEING DRAWN

The Republican nomination, in addition to former Heffran, in case the latter decides to make the run. Mr. Hallinan was a candidate for the Republican nomination of the district at that time, but was defeated by the late J. A. H. Anderson, who in turn was defeated at the general election by the Democratic candidate, Senator Danson, the present incumbent. What getting the politicians' goat just now is the issues they will be forced to declare either for or against, as there are a number that will be forced sharply, which are of the sort that most of the old line politicians would infinitely prefer to "straddle." Until they can arrive at any sort of conclusion as to where "they are" the old Republican organization which proposes to again control things keeping rather mum, after their recent confab in the Hotel Henry at Pittsburgh, where the situation was and the L. O. O. F. of Fayette City, coming over and discussed behind closed doors.

It is announced that the Bull Moosers of the county will soon get active and organize their country along with the work mapped out at the recent Harrisburg conference. Local Bull Moosers and a large number are going to be raised on issues and plans being had for active work along these lines as well as the campaign. The Bull Moosers propose to be particularly active and to see that senators and assemblymen voted against the compensation and the child labor acts, and presented their passage, while the grangers also have their knives out to seek reprisals for some of their measures nullified.

The coming campaign is one that will be waged in every district throughout the state with almost equal fierceness and at no previous campaign have state issues figured so closely to the people as they now promise to during the coming contest.
